

Map the Customer Journey

The purchasing funnel is a consumer focused model which illustrates the customer journey towards purchase of a product or service. This model can help you embrace the customer's perspective so that you can better align your content and call-to-actions to the customer's current needs and motivations. Remember it is a process!

Exercise

For each stage, list the marketing channels you use to target that stage.

